FYI

- Due to the snow day, we are moving the Northeast Region quiz back until Tuesday. We want to make sure all content gets covered and reviewed before the quiz. The students will be quizzed over the NE region states, capitals, and postal abbreviations. They will also have a quiz over the content we have covered in class pertaining to the region.
- There will be a math test over long multiplication and problem solving on Wednesday. Keep practicing those multiplication facts because knowing the facts helps with the process. Remember practice makes permanent!
- The students should be working on their January reading contract, focusing on the historical fiction genre. The students need to complete a story map with summary instead of book projects this month.
- Next week, we will be starting to study bones and muscles in science!
